Teachers' Pension Bill.

The Teachers' Pension Bill has been introduced in the Lower House at Frankfort. This bill provides for a pension fund from which pensions are to be issued to the teachers retiring after thirty years of active service, and also contains a sick benefit proviso. To raise the pension fund a tax of $10 or $20 a year will be levied on the teachers, according to their salary, and also one half of 1 per cent on all taxable city property. The fund, after the first year, would be approximately $3,000, and the bill provides for the investment of this money in some paying proposition. According to the provisions of the bill a teacher retiring after thirty years of active service shall receive $600 a year and for any teacher retiring after twenty-five years active service a pension of $500 per year is allowed.

Whose Is It?

Charles Morgan, the negro who was recently killed in the railroad wreck at Atlanta, Ga., is said to have had his life insured for $1,000, payable to his wife, and that she had her life insured for half that amount, payable to her husband. If both were instantly killed, will the money go to his people or to her people? If he died first, the money belonged to her at the time of his death, and if she died first, the money belonged to him or to his estate. In a case in which a man and his wife had made wills in each other's favor and both were drowned by the sinking of a boat, no other person being present, the Courts decided that as the man was the stronger, he probably lived longer than the wife and the property went to his people. In a railroad accident, strength would cut no figures and this precedent would not serve.

Fallen Asleep.

In tender memory of little Mayme, infant daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Stone W. Maupin, who died January 15, 1912. Little Mayme is dead. The brief span is severed, the little sunbeam, dropped as a priceless jewel into loving arms of adoring young parents, has fulfilled its mission, and gone back to the God who gave, as sweet, pure and fleeting as the mist, frolicking snow flakes that mantled the earth just as the spirit of our babe winged back its flight to eternal glory to Heaven and to rest. Blessed be our resurrected babe, the little mound in the city of our dead and the finger of promise pointing to the way of peace. Rest to her soul; sweet sleep to the mouldering clay. Fallen asleep dear babe— Called back to our God to rest. Your white hands crossed on your breast as soft— As down on a dove's sweet breath. Tenderly, unaware. Sleep came in the waning night And kissed her there on the twilight That leads to the morning light. Only a little dust— So small that a rose might hide it. And we trust in God—or try to trust— When we kneel in grief beside it. She has only fallen asleep. We kneel at her grave and say, We only dream that we weep; She would not leave us and go away— She has only fallen asleep. And that she will awake we know, And smile at a grief like this! It could not be she will leave us so. With never a good-night kiss. So we kneel by her grave and say, We only dream that we weep; She would not leave us and go away— She has only fallen asleep. AUGUST IDA, Richmond, Ky., January 28, 1912.

A Righteous Decision.

The Winchester Democrat says: "Judge Evans this week rendered a decision that will make him solid with the women: a lady, the wife of a tenant farmer, sold turkeys, chickens, eggs, butter, etc., saved the money and bought a horse. Without her knowledge or consent, her husband traded the animal off. The trade did not suit her, and she brought suit for the possession of her horse. While admitting the source from which she purchased the horse, the opposing lawyer claimed that all these things which she had sold really belonged to her husband. Judge Evans would not see it in that light and ordered the horse returned to her."

Impressive Ceremonies.

The presentation of crosses of honor to the veterans will be one of the most impressive ceremonies of the Confederate Reunion which will be held in Mason, May 2-9. The men who will be honored will receive their crosses from the hands of the president of the United Daughters of the Confederacy. If the present plan is not changed General C. Irvine Walker, Commander-in-Chief of the veterans, his staff and W. G. Pritchard, Commander-in-Chief of the United Sons of Confederate Veterans, and his aides will be to the right and left of the president of the Daughters when the tributes are presented. State Regents of the Daughters will flank the veterans on the right, while the maidens and sponsors of the Sons will be on their left. Mrs. Walter Douglas Lamar, state regent of Georgia and president of Sidney Lamar Chapter, is planning to make this gathering the crowning event of the reunion, from the standpoint of the Daughters. Mrs. Lamar not only has the moral support, but the active cooperation of all members of the chapter of which she is the head. All are working to make the ceremony surpass any of the same character ever held. Announcement has not yet been made as to where the meeting will be held. Mrs. Lamar and the committee of ladies working with her have several places under consideration and will decide this question at an early date.

Plan to Enrich Land.

Now while planning to grow crops next year that you may meet your bills and to lay aside a possible saving, study how you are paid to make some or all of your field more productive. If there is farming, the yields must be increased and the land must be enriched before we can expect much increase.

Every time you do something to enrich the land you are adding to your capital and thus are becoming a more independent man. You are making possible large future profits. By all means do not allow that poor land to remain poor.

Use your fertilizer with a view not only to producing a crop but also to leaving the soil richer. Logwood, clover beans and peas are legumes—when grown and fed on the land enrich it in nitrogen, so these should be included in the rotation. The soil needs humus, so try to plant a crop to turn under or grow a crop solely to turn under; the reward will come in the future.

Away Goes Pimples, Blackheads, Eczema, Dandruff and Other Skin Affections.

Often times one bottle and one cake of soap will cure a minor case of skin trouble."

ZEMO and ZEMO SOAP produce sure and swift results. You will not suffer another day after you commence to use them. You will feel like a new person. ZEMO and ZEMO SOAP can be obtained from one leading druggist in every city or town in America and in Richmond at Perry's Drug Store.

Unpaid School Bills.

A knotty problem of law has been presented to the Attorney General department, and M. M. Logan, First Assistant Attorney General, is studying it with a view to giving an opinion. The point is: "The school levy a tax to pay the debts contracted by the school trustees who served under the old law." The new school law wiped out the old school districts, creating new ones, and also wiped out the old school trustees of those districts. In many districts debts had been contracted for improvements or new buildings. The Court of Appeals has held that the new Board of Education cannot pay the old debts with the money levied for school purposes since the enactment of the new law, holding that the debts must be paid by the old districts. But who is to levy the tax to pay the debts is the question that is bothering the lawyers. The old trustees are out of office, but it is believed that they will be called upon to make the levy and wind up the business of their offices. More than $100,000 is involved.

Montgomery and Stone

In "The Old Town," at Lexington, Feb. 7th.

Manager Charles Dillingham announces the first engagement in Lexington, of these really clever musical comedians, Montgomery and Stone, in their latest musical comedy success, "The Old Town," by Geo. A. Le and Gustav Luders, which occur Monday and night, Wednesday, Feb. 7th.

There is nowhere today on the American stage the counterparts of Montgomery and Stone. We have had many imitators who have appeared here in plays made famous by them, such as "The Wizard of Oz" and "The Red Mill," but this is the first time we have ever had the originals in one of their latest productions. Montgomery and Stone are this season making their first visit to all that territory that lies west of the Missouri River and from the Great Lakes to the Gulf. So insistent has been the clamor for these versatile comedians that Mr. Charles Dillingham, their manager, has postponed his annual production that they might make this trans-continental tour and become acquainted with a new audience who hail their coming with intense interest. The engagement here will find the original company and all the effects that delight the thousands in all of the principal cities of the East. Some 35 people comprise the numerical strength of the company which calls for specialists to every point.

Coldest January For Forty Years.

Last month was the coldest January for forty years in our history of the Weather Bureau in Louisville, says the Louisville Times. The highest temperature recorded was 51 degrees on January 23 and the lowest 8 degrees below zero on January 7. The greatest daily range was 34 degrees on January 17. The mean temperature for the month was 21.8 degrees, colder even than the mean temperature for 1903 when the low mark of 25 was reached. January's temperature normally is 31.3 degrees. The month was very cold from the 4th to the 16th of the month, inclusive, the minimum on the 7th, being the lowest since February 9, 1899. The total precipitation for the month was 3.45. January's normal precipitation is 2.90 inches. There was 12.5 inches of snow, the greatest fall in 24 hours coming on the 11th, when 8.2 inches fell. The greatest amount of rainfall in a day came on the 28th and 29th, when 1.15 inches fell. The total snowfall during the month was greater than for any other January since 1895. Cold waves warnings were issued on January 6, 11, 14 and 18. On the 4th of the month an extreme wind velocity of fifty-two miles an hour was reached. There were but ten clear days in the past month. Nine days were partly cloudy and twelve cloudy. The river was nearly full of floating ice from the 9th to the 16th, and the ice blocked the channel from the 17th to the 20th. Navigation was closed from January 8 to 20.

First Lagrippe, Then Bronchitis.

Such was the case with Mrs. W. S. Bailey, McCrory, Ky. "My wife was taken down with a severe attack of lagrippe, which ran into bronchitis. She coughed so much that she could not sleep and could not sleep at night. The doctor's medicines gave her no relief and I was advised to try Foley's Honey and Tar Compound. The first bottle gave her so much relief that she continued using it and three bottles effected a permanent cure." Mr. W. S. Bailey says he is prepared to answer all inquiries promptly.

STOCKTON & SON.

What Do You Think of This?

A bill has been introduced in the Legislature providing for a tax of $1 per acre to provide a road fund. "There can be no doubt that if a bill of this character could be passed that it would raise a large fund, but it is entirely unreasonable, as it would subject the man owning 100 acres of land to a tax of $100, and the man that had its equivalent in cash would not have to pay at all. We have not learned as to whether this man is going to return home after the Legislature adjourns or not, but if he becomes a candidate for re-election on a platform of that kind it is pretty safe he will not return to the Legislature." Springfield News-Leader.

Credit Men After Cold Check Passers.

At the annual meeting of the Lexington Credit Men's Association in Lexington last week, which was attended by Messrs. M. C. Kellogg and Allen Zaring, of this city, the Banking and Legislative Committee reported that the Louisville Credit Men's Association was preparing for presentation to the legislature a bill to make it a penal offense to pass a "cold check." A special committee was appointed at that meeting to co-operate with a similar committee from the Louisville Association, which also is a member of the National Association of Credit Men, to secure his favorable consideration. A bill has also been introduced in the legislature making it a penal offense to obtain goods on a false credit statement. The members of the association, comprising the leading jobbers and millers of Central Kentucky, have agreed to exchange information as to their experience with merchants buying goods in this territory in order that these merchants who are guilty of well recognized trade abuses may be known to the members with whom they may seek to do business.

Proposed Law.

One of the hardest things on our system of roads, it is heavy loads hauled on wagons with narrow tires, especially in wet weather. Representative H. D. Hunter has introduced a bill making it unlawful to haul a load exceeding two tons in weight on any unimproved gravel road with a tire less than three and one-half inches wide. Winchester Democrat.

FEEDING For Production of Eggs

This is one very essential point, which you should never at any time overlook. Hens cannot lay unless they are supplied with the material from which eggs are made. A hen is only a machine for making eggs out of the material which she finds in her feed, and unless she is given the proper TONIC regularly, along with her feed, she cannot manufacture EGGS.

The Snake Habit

If Turley Mathers had not had an attractive personality he never would have had as a figure in society, because the most amiable of hostesses might be pardoned for disapproving a caller who insisted on skinning snakes on her front porch and demanding admiration for their lines and colors.

The year he spent the summer at Wigwam lake is still recalled solemnly as a landmark by the cottagers. All the children were going around dragging snakes after them because Turley had taught them how to catch and hold the creeping things safely, and more mothers went into hysterics that year than had in the century preceding.

The worst of it was that Mathers was a person of scientific attainments and had a perfectly valid excuse for studying snakes. Nobody could say he did it to be unique or troublesome. If you feel that snakes simply drew a long breath, fixed you with a plying stare and lectured to you on your sins. When he had finished you were in such a flabby state that you would have let a snake perch on your forehead.

Mathers met Clara Baysworth out west when her party and his combined for a camping trip through a noted canyon, and the acquaintance progressed at the rate of ten miles a minute until the fatal moment when the stage coach driver, steadily pointed with his whip to the side of the unheeded road. There, lazily stretched out, lay a rattlesnake. Mathers says it was a mere hazy snake of a foot and a half or so, but if you had inquired of the others any of them would have told you it was a horrible monster six feet long, with cerise eyes and a frowning mouth.

Before any one realized what he was doing, Mathers, with a gurgle of pleasure, had slipped to the ground, swept the snake into a heap with his straw hat, deftly grabbed it around its neck with three fingers and held it up to be admired. Persons who do the unusual are instantly pronounced crazy by everybody else, so the conviction instantly settled upon the stagecoach driver that any man who would deliberately pick up a rattlesnake must be insane. Clara Baysworth got her voice first as Mathers, still holding his prize, started to climb back to his seat by her side.

"Go away!" she got out in a strangled voice. "If you come any nearer I'll stick this into your eye!" The distracted coachload echoed her cries. Mathers, however, paid no heed to them and glared at Mathers, women shrunk into corners and fixed him with imploring eyes. Clara frowned at him, pale and desperate.

"Why—" Mathers began soothingly, and put one foot upon the hub of the wheel. But a series of shrieks arose from his victims.

"I hate you!" Clara Baysworth told him wildly.

"He's a perfect beauty," Mathers announced firmly, "and I want him for a specimen." Then he shrugged his shoulders. "Oh, well," he said, "I suppose I can strangle the little beggar!"

His fingers tightened their clasp around the scaly neck and presently the rattlesnake limped. Putting him in a convenient box and stowing the box in his pocket, Mathers remounted the coach, but the atmosphere was strained.

For twenty miles he tried to reform Clara Baysworth. He told her frankly that he was pained and displeased by her foolish prejudice, but even that did not move her. She regarded him with alien eyes.

"I'll listen to you," she said, "when you stop being so perfectly foolish! And if you ask me again to marry you while you are carrying that thing around with you I—I'll scream!"

Somebody who was brave opened the box the next morning to see the dead snake and the camp nearly broke up as the rattler winked one eye and waved his tail at the horrified meddler, having survived his choking. Mathers paled before Clara Baysworth's accusing eyes.

"You certainly have nerve," she told him, "to ask a girl to endure things like this the rest of her life! I don't care whether it is science or not! You might experiment with guinea pigs or ducks!"

"I'll chloroform 'em!" Mathers offered, miserably.

"You will not!" Clara told him. "They might have nine lives like a cat and come to life again, and I can not stand snakes for parlor companions, dead or sleeping! It's between me and your squirming friends, Turley!"

For a long minute Mathers looked at her. Then picking up the rattler he walked to the edge of the cliff and hurled him far out.

"There!" he said simply as he returned and spread out his empty hands.

"Do—do you suppose it bit him?" Mathers asked. "I don't know where you threw him!" Clara went.

Then for the first time Mathers laughed. "Oh, you consistent woman!" he said. "I wouldn't have had so much time to study snakes, anyhow, since I've got you to figure out the rest of my days!"

CLAIMS OLE BULL'S ISLAND

Estate Was Requested to a Swiss Child by the Famous Violinist's Daughter.

Ralph S. Bartlett, who was counsel for Mrs. Ole Bull, the famous violinist, successfully contested the will of Mrs. Bull in the probate court of York county, Maine, last summer, recently left on board a steamship Franconia for Liverpool on his way to the Mrs. Vaughan's will at Bergen, Norway, the New York Herald's Boston correspondent says.

Mr. Bartlett is executor for the will of Mrs. Vaughan, and he and Miss Amelia Shapleigh of West Lebanon, Me., are co-trustees for Sylvia Vaughan, the adopted daughter of Mrs. Vaughan and the principal beneficiary under Mrs. Vaughan's will.

The reason that the will of Mrs. Vaughan is to be offered for record in Bergen is that the only foreign real estate which she possessed is the island of Lyse, near Bergen. Ole Bull owned this island, which is said to be one of the most beautiful in the world. It is a fjord about twenty-two miles from Bergen, and consists of about seven hundred acres of land, largely forest.

The exact procedure which will be followed in Norway with respect to the case is a matter of uncertainty, because under the Norwegian law no foreigner can own real estate in that country without the written consent of the king.

WHEN LANDIS WAS NAMED

Brother of Judge Tells How He Came to Be Called Keweenaw Mountain.

"The most memorable Christmas I ever spent was during the war," said former Representative Landis of Indiana at the Willard. "My father had returned from the war on leave of absence to find another son. He had taken part in the fight at Keweenaw mountain, and when he found his heir awaiting him he suggested the name Keweenaw Mountain. That is how my brother, who has become more or less noted as a judge, came to be named."

"But it was not that incident that made my Christmas so memorable. Keweenaw was a baby. I had other brothers. We were living a few miles from a small town in Indiana, and my father had only a few days' leave. He was compelled to rejoin his regiment before Christmas, if I remember correctly."

"I shall never forget the day before that Christmas. My father and mother went to town, and the boys naturally were most excited. When mother came back with a bundle we were more excited. It turned out that father had purchased us some gifts. Mine was a candy can. The other boys had similar gifts. I had great appreciation of that candy. I placed him affectionally on the 'what-not' of the best room, and took many pilgrimages to have a look at him. Of course, I caressed him, and now and then I would take a loving lick. For several days following Christmas my candy remained there, but one day I could not resist the temptation, and, turning carnivorous, I devoured my candy. I do not know what the candy was, but I suppose they went the same way that mine did."—Washington Post.

Helene and London.

Helene did not like London, but the London county council likes Helene. For the past year it has been the usual excaustic tale that the poet once lived in Craven street, Strand. As he looked out of his lodging Helene exclaimed, "Send a philosopher to London, but no poet! This downright earnestness of all things; this colossal uniformity, this machine-like movement, this moroseness even in pleasure, this exaggerated London smothered the imagination and deadens the heart." But if Helene did not love London he found something within easy reach to warm the imagination and fire the heart—the chalk cliffs of Ramsgate in mid-June, with a beautiful Irish girl to assist in the process.

A New Kind of Exercise.

It is a morning exercise invented by a Parisian actress, who takes the newspaper and tears it up. The fragments are thrown upon the floor in a thousand pieces. Then she gets up and collects those pieces, and the point is that not a fragment is lost. For this is the new way of gardening—the stooping cure that is recommended by every doctor. You can do it in your home, and do not require a garden. It is only to buy the morning paper, tear it into fragments, chuck them on the floor, and pick them up. Quite as good as gardening.

Aerial Postal Service in Italy.

SICKLY CHILD

Made Well By Vinol—Letters from a Grateful Mother.
New Haven, Conn.—"My little girl, ever since her birth, was frail and sickly and nothing seemed to do her any good until we tried your cod liver oil and Vinol. As soon as we commenced to take it, I noticed an improvement in her health and appearance. She has now taken three bottles of Vinol, and from the good it has done her I can say it will do all you claim for it in building up and strengthening frail and delicate children." (Name furnished on request.)
Another mother of Chicago, Ill., writes: "I can not say too much in praise of Vinol for delicate, ailing children."

"We ask every mother of a frail, sickly or ailing child in this vicinity to try Vinol on our agreement to return their money if it does not do all we claim."

Ground-Hog Saw His Shadow

Friday was Ground-hog Day and he saw his shadow, as the sun was shining bright, the hour he is supposed to emerge from his winter quarters. But it doesn't matter about that, for the weather is not governed by the ground-hog; neither will the weather for six or eight weeks be indicated by the sun's shining or not shining at noon on the second day of February. That old theory has been exploded many times and is no good. If we have no more than six weeks longer of winter weather, which will carry us to March 15, we will be, indeed, fortunate. However, it will then be earlier than usual in this latitude.

Not a Pauper.

Lincoln county denies most vehemently that she has switched to the pauper column. She claims that the figures for 1912, which have been published, show that she is in the pauper column for 1912, were compiled and furnished by the whisky element, and were not taken from the Auditor's books, as has been stated.
